“ To Ethel's daughters and family,

I remember your mom as almost an extension of my own mother. Back in the sixties growing up on a crowded street with thirty plus kids, we had endless friends and playmates, as well as each other's mothers and fathers. We loved each other's parents almost like our own. Our parents got into our everyday baseball games and were pretty good athletes. What wonderful summers we had on Carraway Terrace together, playing cards, playing baseball, playing records and dancing together. I remember your mom being very involved with us as we grew up. Our mothers had coffee together and we were at each other's homes everyday. I know I will always think of Ethel when I reminisce on my childhood and the fun filled days of our summers together. Your mom was a very special lady and know that others will share your loss. I love you all.

“ I can't add anything to what Joyce has said. She said it all. I think we all feel the same way. We might not have seen each other a lot over the years but I would like to think that each of us knew that all we had to do was reach out for the other if we needed anything. That still goes. I am sorry that your mom is gone, she was a fun lady for us to have growing up and we have a lot of memories. Love to you all.
