“ Aunt Kassy was a one-of-a-kind beautiful person. She loved people and they loved her. You could always go to her house for a wonderful home-cooked meal and a great conversation. She put other's needs before her own and gave people a sense of calm and comfort. I will love you always Aunt Kassy. I hope you are resting peacefully and will be happy and joyful for eternity.

“ I learned one of my most important lessons of life on one of my visits to Aunt Cassie's home. Mom and I arrived for a visit just as Aunt Cassie pulled two scrumptious smelling pies out of the oven. They were sweet potato pies--my favorite (or so I thought) and I could not help looking at them with what I know must have been longing in my eyes. Finally, Aunt Cassie offered me a slice of pie. To my surprise, the pie was pumpkin, not sweet potato and not one of my favorites. From that day forth, I always remember to be careful for what you wish for because it may not be what you truly want or think it is! Aunt Cassie was a remarkable woman in so many ways and will be deeply missed.
