“ I road the bus for 10+ years with Amy when we were in school. I was bullied pretty bad by some of the older girls. Amy was the only one who took up for me and stood up for me. Being just a teenager and standing up to her friends was pretty remarkable. Sad to hear she’s gone but I sincerely hope she has found the peace she deserves.

“ My heart is sadden to hear of your passing Amy. Life has shown me that no matter the seasons that people come in and out of your life that you always have a special reason that god has you come across each others paths. The memories we have from church as little girls, from school, to cheering growing up and school. You have always been a great sweet friend. At a loss for words to hear you are gone, as you have been through so much in such a short life. I know god has a plan and part of that plan is you getting to see Haley & Pat again. WOW what a wonderful reunion that must of been. While I pray for Alyssa and your family I know that the hurt that you experienced down here you are forever free of. Thank you for always being so supportive of Jess & Team Jesses Angles over the years, thank you for being a Sweet Friend and thank you for the memories. You will be dearly missed. Until we see each other again. We will miss you "soosoosoosoo Much". ❤️ Jenn
