“ I will love you forever brother not a day goes by that I don't think about you and this whole situation. Thank you for being the brother I never had. Your name will live on.

“ Braydon I didn't know much about being a momma but what did I know was that God had blessed me way beyond measure and what I ever deserved. You helped me grow and taught me so many things I thought I already knew. You shown me truth and you saw the best in me. We had a relationship that any would envy. No matter what...we always had each other. You are the air that fills my lungs, the beat to my heart, the twinkle in my eye. I will love you until the day I take my last breath on this earth and after that I will continue to love you in Heaven my sweet angel. May you shine the sky so bright with light that I will know my baby is safe and alright💜
