

Mr. Carey N. Williams

March 7, 2013

Carey N. Williams died March 7, 2013. He was born in London, England to his late parents, Geoffrey and Betty Williams. As a young man Carey traveled the world, eventually making his way to America and joining the US Army. He proudly served his country, serving in Vietnam and making rank of captain. After the military, Carey joined Army Airforce Exchange Service (AAFES), traveling the world once again. He retired after thirty years and eventually settled down in Lanexa, Virginia and worked in real estate.

Carey valued the power of learning and experiencing new things. He was a tutor at William and Mary College in their Literacy for Life program. He was also part of the Road Scholars Program, again traveling abroad learning and experiencing new cultures.

Carey is survived by his only son, Theseus Xerxes Williams of New York City, NY.

A memorial will be held at Patsy's Diner, 9311 Pocahontas Trail?, VA? 23140 at 3p.m., on Saturday, March 16.

A funeral date to be held at Arlington National Cemetery is to be determined.

“ I was shocked and dismayed to discover that Carey had died. He and I had been colleagues in the Army and Air Force Exchange Service in England and remained in contact for years after. Since I had recently returned to live in the US, I had plans on getting back in touch. My sincerest condolences to his friends and family.

“ My husband, David, and I knew Cary as a friend and as a brilliant and engaging man. We first met him when he drove by and asked if he could take a photo of our weird house - we invited him in, shared a pot of tea, and welcomed him back whenever he could make it. We shared a Christmas dinner together at his home and were welcomed with open arms. My condolences to all his family and friends - he was a fine man and will be sorely missed.

“ I was so shocked to hear about Carey. We had been friends for 15 years. Carey was the one to get me in real estate. My husband and I will miss him. Joe had just went down to street to see him about 3 weeeeks ago. I am so sad by his passing! We really loved Carey! If I can help, please contact me.
