“ I am sorry to learn that Mrs. Graves has fallen asleep in death and is resting peacefully. I delivered meals on wheels to her house many times. She had endured an illness for sometime, but kept a spirit of strength and fortitude. I know it was hard to face sickness from day to day but with hope and faith all things are possible. I would like to extend my deepest sympathy to family, friends, and all who are mourning her passing away. May you all reflect on the life that she lived, and the courage she showed in not giving up. The bible does gives us a sure founded hope for all who are asleep in death and that is of living again on a beautiful paradise here on earth. I will continue to pray that your hearts will be healed as you cope from day to day. Death, sickness, sorrow, and pain will all come to a permanent end Revelation 21:3,4. In the book of Isaiah 25:8 it states that death will be swallowed up forever and when this happens we can all rejoice because it will not rob us of people whom we love. As we look to the future we have hope that will not lead to disappointment for all of God's words will come true.
