“ My condolences to Mrs. Burton and her family. I was saddened last week to hear of Mr. Burton's passing. For the past couple of years he had tuned up my lawn mower and power washer. Mrs. Burton informed me of his passing last week when I called to arrange a repair for another garden tool.

Although I didn't know him well, he impressed me as a man of character and personal integrity. The first time he worked on my lawn mower, he called to tell me how much it would cost. When I arrived at his house to pay him, he told me that he had overstated the charge and that it would be $20 less. I would have paid what he originally asked, but he wouldn't take the higher amount. I walked away thinking, "There's my repair guy," and I vowed to tell my friends and neighbors about him.

I could tell through our brief chats that he treasured his family. He was the salt of the earth. I'm thankful for the tender mercy that God showed me by putting him in my path. I'll miss dealing with him, but I'm grateful to have known him.

“ Forever my Angel. My heart is broken and it all still doesn't seem real, I try and give myself the reassurance of knowing that you are no longer suffering and now at peace. I will take with me all the life lessons and advice you gave me, forever keep the memories and times shared together in my heart, and know that even though I may not see you, you are still and always will be with me. I love you so much papa. Until we meet again 💕💕
