“ Eva, I believe you were the last surviving parent of your daughter; Mildreds', classmates, I honor the friendship of your daughter and the visits to your home. It was the first time I became introduced to a Peanut Butter and Banana Sandwich The memories are many and will be cherished for the balance of my life. My sincerest condolences go out to Mildred, Paul and Joyce.

“ Mr and Mrs Guthrie were special people to me. I grew in Remlik church and set with them during church a lot. I would lay on Mrs Guthrie’s lap and she would scratch my back. What a precious memory I have and so thankful we stopped to visit shortly after her 100th birthday. I wonder is when she was greeted and reunited with Mr Guthrie if he may have said to her, “ you taught me to hunt on earth; now let me teach you to hunt in heaven!” No doubt she is rejoicing with our Lord now. What a true saint.

“ I've heard about Mrs. Guthrie from my husband who had known her from a little boy and we've always been amazed at her energy, her love for her family and friends and never seemed to grow old even at a very late age. We went to visit her on occasion and always saw her 4 wheeler parked in the driveway and never saw her, but was told she rode it on a regular basis. Even at 100, it was hard to imagine her sitting still and she was always moving about, loved her garden and flowers, did her own cooking and managed to take care of herself while always being a wonderful mother, grandmother, and a friend to everyone she met. She was truly an amazing lady and we were proud to have known her. In Heaven, we know she has her own "streets of gold" to ride on and we can see her right now wheeling around in front of everyone.
