“ I’ve known Marcie since 4th grade. She was a born leader and strong woman. She was always ready for a good joke and loved high school English so it was not surprising she chose a career in shaping lives. Although the years separated our lives she was always active with our Saint Gertrude class activities. It was from seeing her at these activities that I learned her real life passion was her family. She talked with great depth about the challenges and many joys of her life. God bless her and surround her loved one’s with comfort.
