

Marie Norman

June 15, 1926 - August 11, 2012

Marie M. Norman, of West Point, was called home to her Heavenly Father on Saturday, August 11, 2012. She leaves behind a legacy of strong dedication to her family which she loved dearly and unconditionally. She was a supportive mother, wife, grandmother, and friend. Her word was golden and all that knew her have been blessed by her radiant compassion, unwavering honesty and persistent faithfulness. She had an amazing zest for life and her ways were kind, gentle, and selfless. Her greatest joy came from time spent with her family. She was always thankful for the smallest and simplest things and found the best in everything. Her smile and sparkling blue eyes were a testament to her beautiful soul and she will be greatly missed by those who are fortunate enough to have been touched by such a special lady. Marie was an accomplished seamstress, avid gardener, antique lover, baker, and spent many years proudly raising and displaying her African violets. She could grow just about anything! She loved her home on "her river" and spent many, many hours working in her yard. Besides being the best mother in the world, she loved, and was loved, beyond measure. She was also retired from Colonial Williamsburg. She is survived by a daughter, Ruthie Burks and husband Chris of Midlothian; sons Michael Petty Norman, Timothy L. Norman, both of West Point, and Roy Donovan ("Donny") Norman and wife Patricia of King William; six grandchildren and one great-grandson. She is also survived by a sister, Iris Siegfried of New York. She was preceded in death by her husband of 61 years, R. Petty Norman and a brother, Robert Lee Moody. A memorial service will be held on Thursday, August 16, 2012 at 11:00 a.m. at Olivet Baptist Church. In lieu of flowers, the family requests that memorial contributions be made to Olivet Baptist Church, 25375 The Trail, Mattaponi, VA 23110.
