“ Adam and I loved one another and I was so saddened by the loss of him. He was a sweet and loving man who was a joy to talk to and was always willing to listen. I feel so sad that he's no longer here. Words can't express what I'm feeling and what you must be feeling to lose a son that meant so much to you. I'm sorry for waiting to so late, but please don't feel like I didn't appreciate the kindness that you and your son showed to me. He was one in a million and his talents around the kitchen, his sweet disposition and his emotional honesty will be sorely missed.

“ Dottie and Steve, there are no words that I can express that truly encompass the loss you are experiencing. I would like to say what I will always remember Adam as. Adam was one of my favorite high school friends. I loved working with him every year on our school plays and Forensics matches. The nicest of my teammates is an understatement. He was always there to help and listen to anyone and any problem they were having. He was a selfless man that took his friends happiness as his happiness and it was a beautiful show of kindness. Love and Prayers are with you!

“ We met by chance through your brother, it was an amazing gift to know you and be blessed with you in my life. From our random comments and conversations to just hearing the smile in your voice. You lit up a room Adam, your personality your love for the art of cooking everything about you brought life to a room. Your mom and father raised an amazing son. Fly high sweetheart, now you can watch chefs all over the world <3 My prayers are with your family and my love

Adam and I were in theater classes together in high school. He was always a very warm and friendly person, and though we were occasionally in contact as the years went on, I regret that we didn't remain closer friends. He will be dearly missed.

I met Adam in elementary school. We spent the next several years in classes, theatre groups and after school programs together. We shared a mutual group of friends, and our memories together are more than I can count. I will always remember our time together fondly. Adam was always willing to listen when no one else could. I'll miss his theatrics and his smile. May he finally find the peace that he was seeking.

*My Dearests Dottie, Steve and Brian,
I wish I had some words of comfort.... anything.... that would help ease that unbearable pain around your heart that threatens your sanity, your soul, your reason for living..... Only thing I can offer is my deepest love and sorrow. I will grieve along with you, knowing fully what you are going through and as I get on my knees and pray for the strength to tackle each day that the Lord has decided I need to experience, I will ask for the same for each and every one of you.*

*Much Love Always,
Kay*
