“ She was a very dear close childhood friend, I was saddened so to hear of her passing, so many fond memories from when we were children and growing into young adults, but mostly her fierce determination on anything that she set her mind too! She will be missed beyond words.

“ Skipping church services by hiding in the chapel and thinking we were sooo smart and had fooled everybody! We were about eight. My first sleepover was with Pam. Studying in the unfinished upstairs for our senior civics exam. Our senior graduation trip to the beach. Slinging hash on the same shift at the Betsy Ross. The tiny baby shower my sister and I threw for Pam at a Chinese restaurant. The list could go on, but mostly I remember her penchant for jumping in to your foxhole when you needed it and you being really glad she was there.
