

Pamela R. Walker

June 14, 1948 - December 7, 2014

Pamela R. Walker, 66, of West Point, VA passed away December 7, 2014. She was preceded in death by her husband Walter S. Walker, Sr. She is survived by a son Sean P. "Scott" McKnew; a daughter Heather Martz (J.D.); a brother Tom Rice (Lora); three grandchildren Becky, Zach and James; and one great-grandson Noah. A memorial service will be held 11 a.m. Saturday, December 13th at Vincent Funeral Home, 417 11th Street, West Point, VA 23181.

Tribute Wall

ML

“ Great person. Great neighbor. Great friend. Taken too young just like Walt! I have missed both of them greatly. Best neighbors I ever had and will probably ever have. They helped me when I was a single mother find great deals on household tools, helped with repair of my household tools, and cared about my general welfare. Pam was always ready for a party at my place. Such a sweet person. There was never any judgment. We shared a love for hummingbirds. I know I will see Pam & Walt again. Praise the Lord!
Love in Christ,
Marha Bondurant Shiflett (previous neighbor on New Kent Hwy.)

MLBShiflett - December 13, 2014 at 10:17 AM

HM

“ Mom, I know your at peace now. I am going to miss our daily chats about not much of anything except to just talk. You were a strong woman and I hope I can be half as strong. I love you more than you'll ever know. Till then, keep Walt outta trouble.
Love forever, Heather

Heather Martz - December 09, 2014 at 04:22 AM

KA

“ Pam was a friend, one of those rare people you don't have to see all the time, but when you are with them, you just pick up where you left off. She was street-smart, honest to a fault, and had a very, very big heart. I admired Pam and having Pam as my friend was important to me. I will miss her, but I'm so glad to know her earthly troubles are over. If the angels in heaven can laugh with half as much gusto as Pam Walker, she's in good company! May all those mourning Pam's loss find comfort in keeping her memory alive. God bless.

Kathy Alward - December 08, 2014 at 07:50 AM